Registration and Enrollment

Enrollment in the studio reserves the student's place for the 2026-2027 studio year. Registration is complete when the registration form and policy acknowledgment have been submitted.

Lesson Structure

The studio offers private lessons, partner lessons and beginner group lessons to age 4-adult. Students are enrolled in the lesson format that best fits their age, level, learning needs, and studio availability. These formats are available to support individual growth, community, and performance confidence.

Tuition and Payment

Tuition reserves your student's place in the studio and includes:

- 29 lessons during the 31-week studio year
- Personalized Boombox listening playlists
- Access to the studio's licensed music library
- Use of the studio lending library
- Assignment notebooks
- Lesson planning and instructional resources
- Recital venue rental and supplies
- Performance opportunities and any other studio-sponsored events.

Tuition does not include music books, festival fees, or student achievement testing fees.

Tuition is due by the 7th of each month, September through May. Payments received after the 7th will incur a $20 late fee. Accepted payment methods are: venmo (@Abby-Eger), cash, or check.

Homeschool Partnerships

For students participating through a homeschool partnership, families are responsible for any tuition not covered by the partnership. The remaining balance will be divided into nine equal monthly payments. Music books, festival fees, and testing fees are not included in this amount and are the responsibility of the family.

Book Purchase

Music books may be purchased by the family or by the studio. Books purchased by the studio will be billed separately for reimbursement.

Calendar and Schedule

The studio calendar will be available on the studio website before the start of each studio year. Families are responsible for reviewing the calendar and noting important dates, breaks, and events.

Because the calendar follows the studio year rather than a fixed number of lessons each month, some months may include more or fewer lessons.

The studio offers a variety of performance and evaluation opportunities, including the annual spring recital, local festivals, and events sponsored by the local MTNA chapter. Participation fees for these events are the responsibility of the family and will be billed separately.

Studio Policy 2026-2027

Non-Attended Lessons

Because each student's lesson time is reserved exclusively for them, lessons that are not attended are not eligible for refunds or credits.

When possible, alternative lesson options may be offered at Abby Eger's discretion. These may include an online lesson, a video check-in, a mini video lesson, a refreshed assignment sent by email, or a rescheduled lesson during the same week.

In the event of inclement weather, the studio will communicate any updates by email. When appropriate and available, the alternative lesson options listed above may be used.

Lesson cancellations and schedule changes may be communicated by text or email.

Flex Weeks

The semester includes 31 weeks, of which each student has purchased 29 weekly lessons.

Each student may use one flex week at any time during the studio year. Simply let the studio know in advance when you would like to use your flex week.

The teacher may use one flex week at any time during the studio year. Parents will be notified in advance whenever possible. If the teacher misses more than one week of lessons, she will reschedule at a mutually convenient time for the teacher and the student.

Withdrawal

Families who wish to withdraw from lessons must provide written notice. Tuition is not prorated or refunded once the monthly billing period has begun. Withdrawal notice allows the studio to plan responsibly and offer openings to other families when available.
